HONEST COPS FACE THE CHOP

by Martin Wingfield

HONEST POLICEMEN WHO tell the truth about Britain's multi-racial nightmare are being forced out of the service.

In last month's issue of The FLAG we revealed how Metropolitan Police Commander Brian Sparks was hounded into early retirement after voicing concern over the murder, rape and mayhem caused every year by the Notting Hill Carnival.

Now Superintendent John Ellis of West Yorkshire Police is facing calls for his resignation after he was secretly taped by an Asian Community leader, Omparkash Sharma, expressing concern over the involvement of West Indians in crime in the Chapeltown area of Leeds.

The father of three who became Superindentent at Chapeltown Police Station in December 1985 is now under investigation by Chief Supt. Kenneth Moores of Greater Manchester Police with regard to those remarks.

Supt. Ellis's remarks, made to another officer and the community leader told the truth about crime in Chapeltown.

"There are 15,000 West Indians living in the locality. They are very difficult to police. They create all sorts of problems. Drugs is one, and we are out to stop prostitution, brothels and violence. West Indians in particular create these problems and we are dealing with them as effectively as we can. There are serious things happening in this area. There are old ladies with their pensions being robbed, there are houses being broken into, people raped, children attacked".

On June 21st and 22nd this year rioting broke out in Chapeltown resulting in arson, looting, burglary and the stoning of the Police. Only 29 people were arrested of who only 21 were charged, 14 West Indians, 6 Asians and 1 white person. On the riots Supt. Ellis had this to say,

"My officers have been working all hours. They've been locking people up right ,left and centre and we've cleared up nearly every crime that has been committed during the riots. At the moment we have 28 West Indians in custody charged with arson, burglary, robbery and crimes. They are all locked up now but the courts will let them out on bail against our wishes".

Supt Ellis's remarks upset Omparkash Sharma who has led the campaign to get him sacked. He told the Yorkshire Evening Post "I cannot allow him to stay". Sharma claims he will go on hunger strike if John Ellis is not removed from his position. Sharma led a similar campaign in March 1986 when he and gangs of Asians broke up Police Community Forum meetings demanding the sacking of Inspector Tony Goode of Chapeltown Police for failing to investigate long-term grievances in the Sikh Community. Sharma bragged to the papers after the incidents that no community leader would in future speak to Inspector Goode.

What is our country coming to when policemen, trying to do their job in maintaining law and order, face such persecution? How dare coloured immigrants such as Omparkash Sharma dictate whether a policeman can do his job or not.

The National Front will return all coloured immigrants to their country of ethnic origin and end, at a stroke, crime by West Indians, harassment of police officers by Asian Community leaders and last but not least the reign of terror by Britain's present day Gestapo, the Commision for Racial Equality.

THE COST OF THE 'CARNIVAL'

THE LEGACY of this year's Notting Hill Nightmare is 1,030 unsolved crimes. And that's apart from the murder of Michael Galvin, the blinding of a man by a mugger who used ammonia, 250 arrests and 180 people charged with offences.

CRIME PREVENTION LEAFLET WITHDRAWN

A YOUNG PC has been given a dressing down, a crime prevention leaflet has been withdrawn and an offical apology made by Staffordshire Police after members of a Neighbourhood Watch scheme were asked to report the car numbers of black people driving through their area.

The young officer had written the leaflet for the villagers of Wombourn in Staffs. It said "I would like any sightings of blacks and coloureds reported together with their vehicle numbers. Intelligence gained confirms that they are coming out of Wolverhampton and committing crime, namely house burglary."

Staffordshire's Chief Constable Charles Kelly withdrew the leaflet and issued an apology after local Labour Party officials complained to the Commission for Racial Equality.

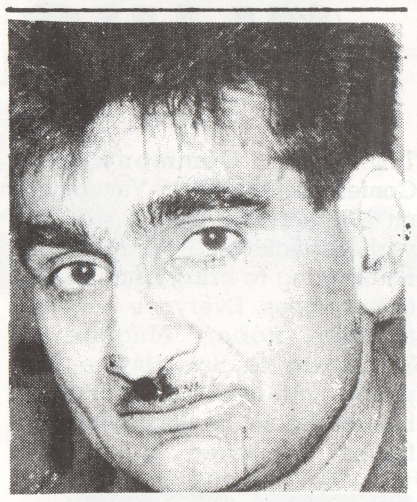
■ FACING THE RIOTERS: It's becoming common place in Britain today to see police on our streets in riot gear. Can any politician put his hand on his heart and say that this is not a direct consequence of coloured immigration.

■ Supt. John Ellis.



■ Omparkash Sharma: 'I cannot allow him to stay'

POLICE AGREE 'It's No-Go'

FOR THE first time Police have admitted that they are allowing 'No-Go' areas in Britain.

The Hilltop Club on the Stonebridge Council Estate in Brent is run by the Black Panther Group whose members style themselves on the U.S. urban terrorist group of the same name led by Michael X.

Scotland Yard have admitted that 'We have an agreement that the police always ask a committee member before we go into the Hilltop Club'.

When the Panthers took over the Hilltop Club two years ago they ejected women pensioners who used it for bingo and lunchtime get-togethers. At the time Panther leader, Louis Miles, said the pensioners will have to accept Black rule. 'If the others don't like it they can get out'.

STORM OVER LETTER

IN WEST London, Chief Superintendent Cecil Jordon is under pressure to resign after writing to Hounslow Council questioning their policy on housing ethnic families on two local estates which was causing "resentment and ill-feeling amongst the White population".

He now faces possible prosecution under the Race Relations Act because 'the letter could be a case of pressure or inducement to discriminate'.

ETHNIC POWER

LABOUR MP for Bradford West, Max Madden, wants candidates for the Police force from the ethnic minorities to be allowed into the force even if they have failed the written English tests and are not tall enough.

Madden has the backing of the Home Office which has urged Chief Constables to 'use special discretion' to bring Blacks and Asians into the police force.

ZULU ARRESTS NAIL MEDIA LIES

By John Hill

JUST BEFORE DAYBREAK on Wednesday October 7th nearly 200 officers of the West Midlands Constabulary raided some thirty homes in the Birmingham area detaining 36 men in connection with alleged organisation of soccer violence.

The men arrested were all members of the predominantly black soccer hooligan gang called the Zulu Warriors who, under the guise of supporting Birmingham City Football Club has brought terror to the terraces of St Andrews as well as the centre of Birmingham. The gang, styled on the gangs of New York, has over the last three years attacked innocent football supporters, run riot in bars and looted shops.

The police operation called 'RED CARD' started some eighteen months ago when Police infiltrated the gang. A police spokesman said several officers on the investigation squad went undercover dressing in skinhead uniforms of jeans and Doc Marten boots and mixed with known Zulu Warrior members in pubs and clubs!

If that was really the case the Police would have got nowhere near the gang! The gang was mostly Black with a few White thugs who dressed in expensive designer clothes, and it is a well known fact in Birmingham that skinheads and the so-called Zulus do not mix.

Eighteen months ago the West Midlands police approached the committee of Birmingham NF to seek help in naming some of the gang members. We gave them a firm refusal, stating the appalling record of the constabulary on arresting NF members during anti-IRA demonstrations and the lack of co-operation received with regard to applications for marches.

■ West Midlands NF football fans: Cleared of involvement in organised violence

However, the NF does congratulate the Police on bringing this gang to justice. Once and for all the lie is nailed that it was NF supporters who were responsible for the death of a Leeds supporter during a game with Birmingham in 1984. Police investigations confirmed later newspaper reports that it was Black Youths of the Zulu Warriors who led the charge that caused the death of the young football fan.

The antics of the Zulu Warriors is just the tip of the iceberg of the true horrors of the multi-racial nightmare that faces Britain today. A Nightmare occurring again and again as the further riots in Handsworth this month again proved. Birmingham is the capital of multi-racialism. Enoch Powell's prophesy of 'Rivers of Blood' might well turn into a tidal wave overflowing and spreading as a sea over all of the West Midlands.

FOREIGN AID AT HOME

LEEDS'S VIETNAMESE community have their own Government-funded centre.

£75,000 was given for the centre in Louis Street, Chapeltown and now a further £17,800 has been given to provide a manager for the centre.

BOTTOMS TO THE LAND

A NEW primary school in Blackburn is to have a block of 'hole in the floor' loos.

The toilets are intended to make pupils, the majority who will come from the ethnic minorities, feel at home.

CHRISTIAN SACKED

SCHOOL PIANIST, Miss Karen Alcott, 33, has been sacked from her job by Leicester Council for refusing to play music at the Asian religious festival of Diwali because she felt it was against her principles as a Christian.

GOOD NEWS FROM C.R.E.

PRIDE IN one's Race starts at three according to the Commission for racial Equality.

In a report to be published next year the CRE is disturbed that evidence reveals that white children are proud of race and their country.

GLAD TO GET GRANTS

LABOUR CONTROLLED Bristol Council is giving £1,000 of ratepayers money to support a 'Glad to be Gay' day for Lesbians.

■ Omar: Top Police Dog.

OFFENDING THE ASIAN MINORITIES

OMAR, FOR seven years an award winning police dog with the Surrey Constabulary has been forced to change his name.

Local Moslems demanded the change because the name, identical to the second leader of the Islamic faith was regarded by the Moslem as 'insulting'.

GUN CHARGE

JAGUN Akinshegun, one time deputy to Black activist Kuomba Balogun in the St.Paul's Community Association in Bristol, has been charged with possessing a sawn off shotgun.

Police also found 83 live shotgun cartridges.

300 RIOT

POLICE were attacked by a 300-strong crowd of Black youths on October 2nd in the Lozells area of Birmingham after they tried to arrest a man suspected of robbery.

BRITAIN SHOULD FOLLOW FIJI'S LEAD

THE 1987 Commonwealth Conference ended in Vancouver on 17th October after a week of verbal attacks on Great Britain for not seeking to bring South Africa to her knees. Everyone from ex-terrorist Robert Mugabe of Zimbabwe to Bob Hawke, the prime minister of Australia blamed Britain for the conference failing to agree to impose sanctions on South Africa.

■ Pik Botha: Pointed out the hypocrisy of the Black Dictators.

Margaret Thatcher, however, attempted to conciliate this assorted rag bag of 'Commonwealth' politicians by promising to help the 'front line states' - countries like Angola, Zimbabwe and Mozambique.

This cheap ploy failed to assuage the black 'begging bowl' politicians or the assorted selection of liberal Whites. They were all particularly incensed when British government spokesmen pointed out that Canada had recently been increasing its trade with South Africa.

The total hypocrisy of all this posturing was exposed by South Africa's foreign minister, Pik Botha, who pointed out that according to a report issued by Amnesty International, 33 out of the 49 states attending the Conference were guilty of greater human rights abuses than South Africa.

Presiding over this ridiculous farce was her Majesty the Queen who is theoretically the Head of State of all of the Commonwealth countries, and judging by some of her recent Christmas broadcasts some of these countries seem to be of more importance to her than the people of Britain.

The sooner that Britain follows the lead of the small state of Fiji and ditches this ridiculous organisation (along with the immigrants of a different race) the better.

■ Bristol Branch: Has taken on a new lease of life in recent months.

BRISTOL NF GET RADIO PHONE-IN

BRISTOL NF organiser Mike Crahart was the guest of Bristol's G.W.R. radio station on Monday 22nd of September in a phone-in programme presented by Dave Barrett.

Answering questions on the Front's policy of phased repatriation, the image of the National Front as portrayed by the media, and Nationalism in general, Mike did very well and presented the NF case clearly and intelligently. It was his first time on radio and National Front members in Bristol were very pleased with the coverage he was given by G.W.R.

Bristol National Front has been one of the success stories of the NF in 1987. From a tiny band of activists the branch has grown into a well-organised unit of the NF combining experience with enthusiasm. Paper sales in the Broadmead area of Bristol have gone down well with the locals and a recruitment/leafletting drive during September prompted a number of membership enquiries.

NF GROUP LAUNCHED TO FIGHT THE TUNNEL

■ Hurricane Damage: Not a patch on the destruction to be caused by the channel tunnel.

by Geoff Burnett
Kent Regional Organiser

IN A month which saw the establishing of an active National Front unit in Folkestone and Dover we also saw Kent suffer its almost personal hurricane.

Vast tracks of woodland were devasted by 100 m.p.h. winds, but the damage inflicted by the wind will be nothing compared to the damage done to the Kent countryside by the Euro Tunnel, shares in which are being promoted by the Government over the next few months.

Let me just quote from the Euro Tunnel prospectus which was pushed through doors in the county this month. "This tunnel scheduled to open in 1993, only six years from now, and with preliminary construction underway, will be built to handle large columns of traffic. It will be able to handle almost as many passengers, even in its first year of operations as passed through Heathrow 1985-86 and more freight than passed through Dover in 1985."

Who wants this underground sewer running through Kent? Certainly not the people of Kent. And who do we find is backing Mrs Thatcher's pet project? Would you believe China and Russia are to provide £105 million for the Channel Tunnel with the Moscow Narodny Bank providing £65 million and the Bank of China £40 million.

Kent National Front's efforts against the Tunnel may be likened to an ear of wheat trying to hold back a steam roller but such an effort there will be. Over the next few months our campaign will start gaining momentum and all activists keen to fight against the further destruction of the Kent countryside should join our fight.

At the forefront of our campaign will be the newly formed Folkestone and Dover National Front. They can be contacted by writing to their organiser, Mr. D.J.Nunn, P.O.Box 48, Folkestone, Kent CT20 1UQ.

NF FIGHT BY-ELECTION

■ Keith Handy

CROYDON NATIONAL Front are fighting a local council by-election in the Whitehorse Manor Ward of the Croydon N. constituency.

Candidate Keith Handy was adopted at the October branch meeting where NF Chairman Martin Wingfield was the guest speaker.

An excellent leaflet supporting Keith Handy has been produced by the branch and a vigorous poster campaign in the 50% coloured immigrant ward is being carried out.

Keith fought the ward in May 1985 where he polled 2% and the branch are confident that the vote this time will improve.

UTTOXETER STREET SALES TO LAUNCH RECRUITMENT DRIVE

AS PREDICTED in last month's issue of The FLAG Staffordshire National Front are getting off the ground although the centre of action will be Uttoxeter rather than Cannock as predicted.

New organiser Kevin Smithland has ordered bulk quantities of The FLAG for a series of street paper sales and a leaflet and recruitment drive is planned for the coming months.

SUNDERLAND REMEMBERS KEITH BLAKELOCK

SUNDERLAND NF are receiving an excellent response to their paper sales in the town.

Local people still talk with disgust at the sentences received by those who hacked PC Keith Blakelock to death during the Tottenham riots, he was from Sunderland, and hardly a papersale goes by where the strong local feeling isn't expressed to the NF members.

Credit for promoting the National Front in the town must go to Rob Lamb, Kev Nicholson and Peter Savage.

NF CAMPAIGN IN DEWSBURY

THE POSSIBILITY of launching a National Front unit in Dewsbury, West Yorkshire has come a step closer following a leafletting campaign by Leeds NF in the town.

A number of enquiries have been received, especially from the area around the Overthorpe School and its hoped a meeting to form a branch can be organised before the end of the year.

MOSS SIDE STABBING

■ PC Allan Donoghue

ELEVEN POLICE officers were injured in major disturbances in the Moss Side area of Manchester at the beginning of October.

PC Allan Donoghue was knifed in the chest and arm after trying to arrest a man in the car park of the Great Western Hotel. Other offciers were attacked with pool cues, bottles and bricks by a 300 strong crowd.

Manchester's Chief Constable, James Anderton said that not a single volunteer had come forward with information on the riot in which nine police cars were damaged.

FRONT SUPPORT FOR MOTORCYCLE ACTION GROUP CAMPAIGN

BY A majority of four, Birmingham National Front voted to 'Support the Motorcycle Action Group in their fight to let the motorcyclist decide on whether he wears a crash helmet or not'.

The debate which took place at the October Branch meeting held on Monday 26th October saw local branch chairman, Ray Redfern, proposing the motion arguing that the NF as a party which desires to see more civil liberties and freedom for its people should support this call which gives British people that freedom of choice.

Secretary Will Ayto argued against the proposal quoting figures in the reduction of head injuries to cyclists since the intoduction of the law making it compulsory for riders to wear helmets. Both speakers condemned the preferential treatment given by the Government for Sikhs to ignore the law as well as commending the efforts of the late Fred Hill who went to prison seventeen times to draw attention to the fact that Sikhs were being put above the law.

At the end of the meeting two cheques each for £30.00 were handed over to Sean Jewsbury and Martin Powell to help with fines of £400 they received for confronting IRA demonstrations on the streets of Birmingham.

DUDLEY AGM

ON SUNDAY 25th October Dudley National Front held their Annual General Meeting.

A packed room above a local pub heard Organiser Andy Nolan give a report to members of activities over the last 12 months. West Midlands Regional Organiser, John Hill then conducted the elections for the five committee positions before giving a progress report on the growth of other National Front branches in the West Midlands.

Conference Sketch

Watershed for the Front!

By Des Wranborn

I have always inclined to the view that Party Conferences bring out the worst in people. Perhaps the conclusion that hurt me most was that they did not simply bring out the worst in other people but that they brought out the worst in me! Perhaps this is my worst!

There are occasions - quite unlike other events in the Party calendar, like elections, marches and Directorate meetings - on which members take themselves (and not simply our Cause) seriously. Taking oneself seriously is probably the worst vice in politics.

The debate about the Dewsbury schools informed us that some of the parents, whilst not racialists or supporters of the National Front, simply used words to describe Asians that would make the most hardened Bulldog reader wince a little.

The Chairman of the Meeting, Sid Campbell, certainly took his position seriously - evident by the fact that he remained in that position, his chair, throughout the Conference. Perhaps he was worried that his interventions into every debate might have cast doubt on his official role.

The debate on the emergency motion on Fiji certainly separated the sheep from the goats - or should I say the Melanesians from the Indians. This ethnic division within the National Front had previously been neither noticed nor remarked on. It appeared, however, that the Melanesians, constituted the larger part of the meeting - if not of the population of the island of Fiji. Whilst it is true that none sported the Fijian national costume of plain straight skirt (none, that is, save Ratu Tina Denny), it is believed that those attending a function on 24th October would not have been disappointed. Even some of the Melanesian majority at the meeting tried, unconvincingly, to disclaim their ethnic origin and seemed to be motivated by their desire to distance themselves from a third South Seas tribe, that of Windsor. Only one member of the Conference refused to vote on the ground that he did not care because they were all a set of . . . . . Fijians (?)

Dan Dare talking to Digby . . . . .

The motion on the Corporate State was lost, notwithstanding the serious intent and careful argument of the proposer and seconder. Neither was a Melanesian or an Indian and there was no more than a trace of either being Italian. Indeed, they were not. They both came from Bristol - not even from the St. Pauls district. This was not a struggle between blackshirted corporatists and their critics. It was, more accurately, a struggle between Harrogate and Brighton etymologists and Bristolian semanticists, plus the inevitable intervention of a Milton Keynes philologist. At least, that is what it appeared to be. "The Corporate State is . . . . . No, it isn't! Well, that's what I understood it to be!" was the level of the argument. The debate became confused and confusing. Did Corporatism mean Italian Fascism, Mediaeval Ecclesiasticism and Feudalism or Harold Wilson's Industrial Reorganisation Corporation and Social Contract?

The debates on the Constitution were constructive and none of the votes (there were several on the various amendments) was a foregone conclusion. Members seemed to divide themselves into 'Centralists' and 'Supporters of an Independent Judiciary'. It is not clear which were the Melanesians. Anyway, the latter (the Supporters of an Independent Judiciary not the Melanesians), seemed to be successful. It was the first occasion on which the membership has had the opportunity to decide between alternative versions of different sections of the Constitution. If I used expressions like 'watershed' or even knew what one was, I suppose this would be one.

The Chief Ratu Ramwingfield was particularly impressive. This was not because everybody - or anybody - can remember what he said. I am sure they cannot - it was late in the afternoon and members were getting thirsty and regretting how much they had donated in the collection. It was simply because he seemed to be worth taking seriously. He seemed to have reached (and seems to have stuck at) a point too fleeting in the careers of some former Chairmen. I refer to the interlude between the period of nervous uncertainty and the period during which one sees oneself as an instrument of Divine Providence. He does give the impression that he can remain in that interlude indefinitely. It is that rare quality that permits us to forget that he sounds a bit like Dan Dare talking to Digby.

The Mekon Monster a good Nationalist? . . . .

They were all there: Ian Anderson, both a Melanesian and a Centralist, speaking authoritatively if unsmilingly; Steve Brady who was very witty (sometimes to the extent that he seemed as if he wanted to laugh before he told a joke) and, in proposing the motion on a British Space Programme, sounded as if he wanted us all to sound like Dan Dare talking to Digby; Peter Williams who said that the Mekon Monster was probably a 'good nationalist'; Ted Budden who on hearing that there was to be an emergency motion jumped up to say that he wanted to speak against before he had even heard what the motion ws about; Keith 'Beefy' Taylor looking serious and dressed in a suit; Paul Nash in smiling opulence like a television quizmaster; Bob Nash who stayed awake for some of the time and only occasionally disappeared into a teapot; Bill Fitt who looked thoughtful and responsible; Tom Acton who sounds a little like a St Andrews don with his halting manner and parentheses within parentheses; and Terry Denville-Falkner who looked simply benign (merely benign, that is, not simple!). Bob Jones looked tanned (not in a Procterian sense I hasten to add) from his second holiday in Ibiza. He was the only one who really looked like a Fijian.

If the Conference really was a watershed (and I shall have to find out what one is), it was because it was the first to feel sufficiently confident of itself to allow a childish sketch like this to be written and published.

Yours affectionately

Des

A.G.M AGREES ON BRAND NEW CONSTITUTION

THE 1987 AGM of the National Front was held in the Imperial Hotel, central London on Saturday 3rd October. It was attended by about 150 delegates from all over the United Kingdom.

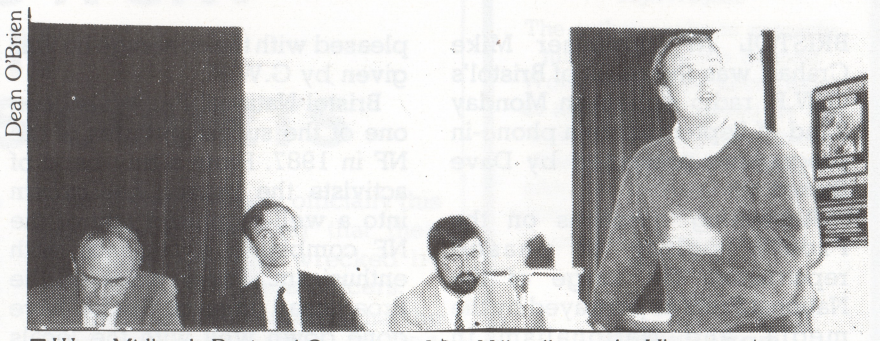
The most important business of the day was the adoption of a new constitution. This involved a lively and very interesting debate as there were several proposed amendments. These were debated in a very responsible manner and after the adoption of some of these amendments the new constitution was unanimously adopted.

The early part of the afternoon was taken up with a number of policy debates of which the most notable were: an emergency motion congratulating the Fijians on regaining control of their own country, a call for a greatly increased programme of space exploration, a demand that sailors of the Royal Navy should only be used for the defence of British lives and property and not for alien ships which happen to be fly ing the Red Ensign, and finally the affirmation that Ulster is and should always be part of the United Kingdom.

Dean O'Brien



■ West Midlands Regional Organiser, John Hill, talks on the Ulster motion.

After these debates there were a series of reports from the part of the United Kingdom.

After these debates there were a series of reports from the various Directorate Department heads of which the one which was listened to with most attention was undoubtedly the Fund Raising report from Tina Denny.

The collection raised a very creditable £450 and the meeting was ended with a closing speech from Martin Wingfield, Chairman of the National Front, who spoke of the encouraging signs for the party which we could see over the last few months.

As usual one of the most enjoyable aspects of the meeting was the opportunity to meet other NF members from all parts of the country and to hear of the progress that they are making in their own areas.

Altogether a very enjoyable day in a very comfortable hotel suite in the nation's capital.

THE SORDID LIVES OF FOREIGN DIPLOMATS

by Steve Brady

AN Egyptian was able to get away with wandering around Central London sexually assaulting British women because he was a diplomat, the Foreign Office admitted on September 25th. Hussain El Zayyat, a military attache at the Egyptian Embassy, crept up to his victims from behind and groped them in intimate places. After a series of such offences of gross indecency, causing much distress to his victims, El Zayyat was spotted and arrested by a policeman. But he pleaded "diplomatic immunity", and the Police had no alternative as things stand but to let this Arab pervert go. The Egyptian Embassy stood by their attache's disgusting behaviour, which, as any English girl who has been there will tell you, is the norm in Arab countries, and refused to waive diplomatic immunity. In the end, all the British authorities could do was ask him to leave the country, no doubt smirking all the way to the plane.

This is the sixty foreign sex criminal to escape prosecution through "diplomatic immunity" since 1984. In January, the supposedly friendly American Embassy used "diplomatic immunity" to protect one of its envoys, who had sexually assaulted a little English girl of six. As far as foreign diplomats are concerned, British women and children are fair game, it seems. As are the British people in general: since 1984 146 foreign diplomats have committed crimes in our country and got off scot-free because of "diplomatic immunity". This year alone, there have been 13 such cases. One foreign diplomat was caught picking British peoples' pockets. Two were in possession of drugs. Some countries use diplomatic bags, which are immune to Customs searches, to smuggle drugs into Britain for their embassy staff to sell on our streets. After all, if they get caught, they just plead "diplomatic immunity" and get off. Ten foreign diplomats this year were caught shoplifting or drunken driving, but likewise escaped justice.

It is ridiculous that foreign diplomats should have this sort of licence to loot, pillage and rape their way around our country with impunity. The Government should abolish "diplomatic immunity" for blatant crimes like raping children, theft, drug pushing and sexual assault and diplomat criminals should stand trial like anyone else. And if foreign countries want to do the same, and put British diplomats in jail if they abuse native hospitality and commit clear crimes under anyone's law, then that's fair enough by us. Diplomacy is a means of conducting international relations. It isn't a licence to commit crime.

JOBS TRAINING SCHEMES — IT'S SLAVE LABOUR!

By John Harwood (Newcastle NF)

ONE OF THE most cynical ventures to exploit unemployed people is now well and truly in operation, courtesy of the Tories. It is commonly known as the J.T.S. (Jobs Training Scheme), honest people prefer to call it the Slave Labour Scheme. The J.T.S., which enables the bosses to line their pockets at the expense of the unemployed is a scheme based on the U.S. 'work for benefit' system called 'workfare'.

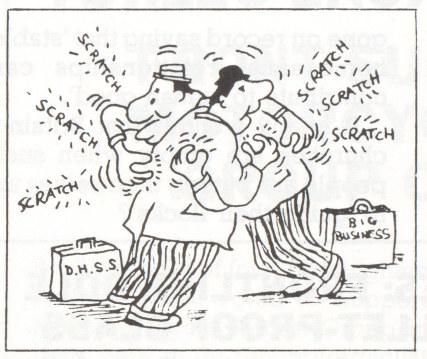
It has two key aims: To provide a pool of cheap labour for employers and to undermine wages and conditions that have been won and established through many years of struggle by the British worker.

The J.T.S. should not be seen as training, IT IS WORK. On J.T.S. at least 28 hours per week must be spent producing goods and services alongside paid workers. 12 hours 'directed training' may also be 'on the job'.

For Big Business the J.T.S. is a cheap labour gift from the Tories. In return for paying £20 - £25 to the Manpower Services Commission each week they receive a trainee.

With such 'bargains' employers will soon be in a position to dispense with workers receiving Trade Union rates. This means that those fortunate enough to be in employment are under as much threat as those who are unfortunate enough to be conscripted onto these schemes. The Tories aim to push the unemployed onto J.T.S. through compulsory interviews and intimidatory threats of benefit loss, using the Restart interviews and Availability Tests for this purpose.



The J.T.S. is nothing short of a scandal. Being in receipt of wholly inadequate State benefit is humiliating enough. Being asked to produce goods alongside fully paid workers, for the same State benefit and meagre busfares is a disgrace. The J.T.S. may be fine for Thatcher and her cronies who guzzle champagne and eat caviar as the unemployment figures are fiddled. But for those on the dole scrapheap it means more degradation to accompany the stigma attached to State handouts which can only be described as chickenfeed.

The right to work is a basic human right, unfortunately Mrs Thatcher does not realise this. The High Priestess of Capitalism has declared that all those out of work through no fault of their own must now toil in order to give her credibility, and to make fatter profits for her parasitical masters. When the history of our times come to be written, it will be seen that Thatchers contribution to the welfare of the ordinary British worker would not merit a crackerjack pencil.

In the New Britain as envisaged by the National Front, the ravages and exploitation by Capitalism will be done away with. In its place will be a system which gives the right to work, with a share of the workplace, a decent wage and standard of living. This is real Social Justice and must be implemented to eradicate the scourge of Capitalism which threatens to make the British worker fit only for the perfect consumer society.

To the employed and unemployed alike, the choice is simple, obedient servitude in the Capitalist slave system or freedom and Social Justice through radical British Nationalism.

CLOSE DOWN THE 'CITY CASINO'

by Ian Anderson

BLACK MONDAY, BLACK Tuesday, the crash of '87, Wall Street crashes. Yuppies reach for their G & T's" - but what does it really mean to you and me?

The world's stock exchanges have been hitting the headlines with record drops in their values, and people who own shares have been losing a lot of money as a result. But what has really been shown by these huge fluctuations is that stock exchanges have very little relationship with the factories, manufacturing plants and other businesses in which they deal.

For example, in two days, the theoretical value of all the firms quoted on the London Stock Exchange fell by 22%. In theory this wiped £100,000,000 off the value of British industry - in two days!

This is clearly absurd. A factory worth £10,000 on one day simply isn't worth about £7,500 48 hours later.

All that the London Stock Exchange amounts to is a gigantic casino. Speculators, including those thousands of people who have bought shares in British Telecom, British Gas, etc. quite simply gamble their money in exactly the same way as when they put it on a horse or on the throw of a dice - and usually with the same amount of knowledge of the firm on which they are putting their money, i.e. precious little.

Such a gambler hopes that there will be more people wanting to buy a particular share than there are people wanting to sell it. This will cause the shares to rise in value and they will then make a quick profit. Of course if there are more sellers than buyers, the price will fall and the gambler will lose money.

Over the last year the London Stock Exchange has been rising fairly continuously from around an index of 1400-1500 upto about 2200. All the Yuppies have been happy, the Asian shopkeepers with their British Telecom shares have been happy, and the government has been happy.

The government has been happy because it has been able to sell off shares in companies at a high price and still allow the buyers a good profit. It was of course inevitable that such a winning streak would not go on for ever. Just like throwing a dice, any winning streak comes to an end eventually. For the government this has come at an unfortunate time because it was about to launch its latest 'privatisation' issue:- B.P.

But what does all this mean to industry. The fluctuation in a companies share price has no direct effect on the performance of that company. The only time it has an effect is in the event of the company wanting to raise more cash for expansion by means of a share issue. If the value of existing shares is low, then it will not be able to sell new shares at a very high price and thus it will not be able to raise so much money.

It also makes the matter of raising cash for expansion subject to the whims of the stock exchange. If the government had any doubts about this chaotic system then there are plenty of ways in which it could be reformed, for example by making people hold shares for fixed periods. However the government is totally committed to letting the expansion or contraction of British industry continue to be subject to this casino system.

The National Front believes that the only factor that should be allowed to affect the growth of British industries is the skill and work of the people in that industry.

The National Front calls for the total abolition of this casino and its replacement by a combination of industries made up of workers co-operatives and finance made available through properly regulated channels. Only then will British industry truly belong to British workers.

REFRESHER COURSE

YOU KNOW just the other day I was musing on the Great Guinness Scandal and thinking that it must surely be the cue for yet another bout of guilt transferrence. It must be several weeks since we last had a little trip down memory lane. So long since the last splurge of holocaustiana that I'd almost forgotten the words.

I picked up the newspaper to see what was on TV and lo! What a coincidence. Nine and a half hours, in two great chunks, of Claude Lanzmann's 'Shoah' on Jeremy Isaacs' Channel 4 TV, played non-stop in the proper reverential spirit without a single commercial break. How strange.

Not half as strange, however, as the grovelling and snivelling of the TV reviewers. One such toady, Ronald Hastings of the Daily Telegraph wrote; "In the face of the horrifying but stupendous documentary 'Shoah', one hesitates to recommend the light-hearted villainy of 'The Charmer' . . .".

Just so! Possibly this Hastings person believes that all other entertainment should be suspended during the stupendous "documentary" or that it merits a declaration of national mourning during its showing. Perhaps he has an uneasy feeling that recommending another programme while the brain-washing session is in progress is tantamount to incitement to truancy.

One hesitates to express in bald terms one's opinion of he who hesitates. There are laws against obscenity, you know.

MY GOODNESS

"ARE WE BEING mealy-mouthed?", asks Graham Paterson, writing in the Sunday Telegraph about the great Guinness scandal. He was, of course, referring to the fact that all of the major participants in the wickedly unscrupulous sharp practise of the Guinness take-over of Distillers were Jewish and to the fact that, until now, no newspaper had seen fit to inform the general public of that fact - even though so many of the miscreants had fancy anglicised names that it would not have been apparent to the twit in the street.

Well yes, I suppose we are all a bit mealy-mouthed. Even the sophisticates in our own ranks tend to wince more than somewhat when uncouth colleagues inveigh against The Great Jewish Conspiracy. After all, we know full well that many Jews are engaged only in honest business such as shopkeeping, tailoring, barbering, and loan-sharking. Some Jews actually get their hands dirty through honest toil. In any event, there are more crooks than Jews in the world - not many, perhaps, but some.

Yet those of us who tend to think of the Guinness grafters as British chaps who just happen to be Jewish, have been rather taken aback by the fact that the vast international operation involved in the take-over of a large -British company by another large British company was entirely Jewish. Despite the fact that a multiplicity of apparently unconnected companies were engaged in the dubious wheeling and dealing, the whole business was accomplished without the taint of Gentile involvement that might have fouled up the whole thing. Well I mean; it's almost like a conspiracy, isn't it? Despite which, nobody mentioned it; not even the board of Argyll, the defeated contenders. I wonder why?

It seems that the British have become so conditioned by fear of the race relations Inquisition that they live in dread of being accused of racial bias. This, of course, is greatly to the advantage of those who created the Inquisition. Some years ago, the board of English Cotton Spinners rejected a take-over bid from Joe Hyams of Vyella and were forced to defend themselves against Hyams' charge that their refusal to meekly hand over their company was "anti-semitic"! Such allegations are bad for business. They are also the very intellectual terrorism that has rendered so many people either mute or mealy-mouthed.

It is, as the latest Guinness advert proclaims, "Pure Genius".

TALK WHAT?

AMONG my happiest memories of the last war is of the Canadian servicemen who came here in their hundreds of thousands to fight on our side. No question; our war was their war from day one.

They were particularly proud of their British connections and frequently showed their hostility to the less enthusiastic French Canadians by telling anyone they heard speaking French to "Talk White"!

Among the most British of all were those who came from British - Columbia. Things certainly have Columbia. They had a temperate climate, nearly all the population was of British stock, all spoke English. "Just like Britain", they would claim.

Well, just recently we've had that annual freak show the Commonwealth Conference and this year the menagerie moved to Vancouver in British Columbia. Things certainly have changed for news reports stated that Indian Prime Minister Rajiv Ghandi was the subject of special security measures "because of the many thousands of Sikhs who live in Vancouver and a sizeable Fijian colony".

Those Canadian servicemen always struck me as being rugged commonsense individuals so just when did they lose their guts and their marbles?

For it is estimated that within forty years Canada will have a non-white majority and, as now in parts of the United States, those "talking White" will be a minority.

British Columbia will be just what they've always claimed - "just like Britain!"

■ Thatcher and Fitzgerald after signing the Anglo- Irish Argeement - the final betrayal of the people of Ulster.

NOW HAUGHEY WANTS A SAY IN ULSTER'S COURTS

CHARLES HAUGHEY, the Southern Prime Minister, announced on 11th October that he is seeking to use the Anglo-Irish Agreement to get changes in the justice system of Ulster.

As a lever to make sure that he gets his way Mr Haughey also announced that the anti-terrorist extradition treaty, which would mean that IRA murderers can be brought before British courts, would not be implemented until the changes were brought in.

Meanwhile these IRA murderers are virtually immune from arrest in Southern Ireland. Since the implementation of the Anglo-Irish Agreement senior officers of the Royal Ulster Constabulary have met with equivalent officers of the Southern Irish Garda. But R.U.C. sources say that security forces in the North are nervous of telling the Garda too much; officially this is because they fear that their operations may be wrecked by inexperienced Garda officers.

In fact the real reason is that the Garda is heavily infiltrated by IRA sympathisers who have passed on information about security force operations to the IRA.

The aim of the Southern Irish government has never changed. It is to gain control of Northern Ireland, they are cynically using the Anglo-Irish Agreement to gain a bridgehead in Ulster. Mrs Thatcher is either so stupid that she cannot see what is going on, or she is deliberately conniving in the sell-out of the Loyalist population of Northern Ireland.

In either case she is not fit to be the Prime Minister of the United Kingdom!

ANIMALS IN AGONY — NO RITUAL BAN

THE GOVERNMENT is to ignore the recommendations of the Farm Animal Welfare Council and decided not to ban the ritual slaughter of animals.

A report from the FAWC had revealed "Religious methods of slaughter, even when carried out under ideal conditions, result in a degree of pain, suffering and distress which does not occur in the properly stunned animal".

The Government, desperate to appease the Moslem and Jewish lobby, has decided that the suffering must continue.

RUNCIE GIVES AID TO HOMOSEXUAL CLERGY

MORE THAN 4,000 Church of England clerymen are homosexual according to the leaders of the 'gay Christian Movement'.

This revelation is hardly surprising considering the Archbishop of Canterbury has gone on record saying that 'stable homosexual relationships can contribute to human good'.

It is any wonder that Britain's churches are empty when such people are putting themselves up to 'guide their flocks'?

RESTLESS NATIVES: FRONTLINE DOLE OFFICE GETS BULLET-PROOF GLASS

ST. PAUL'S dole office in Bristol is to have bullet-proof glass and steel doors.

The changes have been prompted after a series of incidents at the office including a machete fight in the car park, a man chasing vehicles with a spear and a women officer being held hostage in a claimants home.

GOD SET THE LINES

Dear Sir,

I bought a copy of The FLAG a week ago in Newcastle-upon-Tyne and I do agree with your policy of no coloureds in Britain. Not that I have got anything against these people except I personally prefer to live among my own kind. What's wrong with that?

I wonder how many people realise that God is against a multi-racial society. Even from the beginning the chief caused of violence and chaos in the world was racial hatreds, inter-racial marriages and racial violence caused by mans' efforts towards integration and the amalgamation of the races which is contary to God's law.

God has set the boundary lines of nations and races at the beginning. (Deuteronomy 32: 8-9; Acts 17: 26). But man has refused to remain in the lands which God assigned.

Today race wars, race hatreds, and race riots are the world's greatest social problems. They are created by man. Do let us go forward and do the will of God and get rid of multi-racial societies.

Yours faithfully
A. Wilson,
Whitley Bay

REMEMBRANCE DAY

by Bill Kennedy

On a cold November day
We remember what they had to pay,
To keep our land and lives all free
They made the sacrifice for you and me.

With freedom threatened they heard the call and many of them gave their all
So we march with heads held high,
We remember why they went to die.

And yet sometimes our heads hang low,
For after death, a further blow,
The sacrifice they made
was soon enough to be betrayed.

Already circling like a vulture,
Forces ready to devour our culture,
With intent to destroy our Race,
To call them 'British' is a disgrace.

In those six years of the war,
We kept the invader from our shore,
What a different scene today,
The Race-destroyers have had their way.

Would to God that our brave
Could rise in total from the grave,
And fight this time to set us free
From this accursed tyranny.

But alas this is not to be,
The battle's left for you and me,
They did their part and did it well
Nor did they their birthright sell.

And so we march with heads held high,
Banners and flags pointed to the sky,
We remember them with patriotic pride,
How they fought, and why they died

THE MUSIC INDUSTRY IS KILLING MUSIC!

by Bob Nash

DESPITE THE protests of record label executives, it is not home-taping or bootleggers that are killing the spirit of contemporary music, but rather the practises of the music industry itself.

Before the emergence in the 1960s of the Beatles and the other 'Meyseybeat' groups, British bands as a whole were much freer to pursue any course of music that they wished, finding in their own time audiences that would appreciate their music. From the period of the late 1960s to the early 1970s, the situation changed dramatically. With the discovery of that pop music was big business there was an increasing move towards monopolising this lucrative industry.

The emergence of big record companies such as R.C.A., E.M.I. and Atlantic, saw an increasing tendency to market one form of music to make large profits, rather than provide the British people with a variety of music. The use of a chart system by the established radio stations such as Capital and Radio 1 has lead to the further stagnation of the music scene for the following reasons. The chart system used by the main radio stations has proved open to manipulation by record companies, and this has in fact happened through the system of record-plugging. Agents from various record companies, plug or promote their artists records by offering gifts or other financial inducement to a number of record stores. In this way only certain artists are promoted and appear to be the most popular, thereby effectively shutting out new artists from the chart system, altogether. Is it any wonder that much of the popular music heard on radio stations and T.V. is mindless dross?

The increasingly parasitic stagnating effect of the music industry can be seen in other ways. The advent of the promotional video, though at first glance an eye-catching means of promoting a band's latest record has had other side-effects. Many record companies now see little worth in sending a group signed to them out on a concert tour, when most music tours tend to lose money. It is far more economic for record companies to use the system of a promotional video to advertise a band's latest single or record and promote the band themselves by this relatively cheap method. This means that once again new bands are the losers, because without the financial backing of an established record company, it is usually impossible for a struggling artist to afford to make an impressive video which will gain public attention. Added to this is the fact that fewer live tours by groups has led to many of the former live venues being closed down, or converted into disco bars due to lack of business where public interest and decreasing number of live tours are concerned. Though of the face of it the opportunities open for new music seem bleak, there is light at the end of the tunnel.

The music industry by it's refusal to promote new talent will eventually cut its own throat. By concentrating only on current big-selling artists the established music scene will stagnate to a point where young people will no longer look to it as the source of new music, but instead turn to making their own music, music for their own interest and enjoyment. With the vast bulk of the music industry in the corrupt state that it is, this change cannot come soon enough.

A report on the second Social Club holiday to Ibiza.

NF: IT STANDS FOR NON-STOP FUN!

by Will Ayto (Birmingham NF)

SUN KISSED sands and clear blue seas were what awaited members of the National Front Social Club as they flew out of Gatwick Airport on Wednesday 16th September. Their destination was the Balearic holiday island of Ibiza, with the island's main resort of San Antonio about to witness the third such visit in two years by National Front members.

Arriving at the hotel at 3.00 in the morning, most people's thoughts would be of bed. Not however our intrepid travellers, the night was young and the bars, a mere 200 yards away, too inviting. Refreshment was called for and the mood required setting for the next 7 days and the drinking that lay ahead. The pillow was eventually found at 6.00. (Where had it gone you may ask).

The following day, down on the beach, whilst the obviously more Nordic of those present proceeded to burn in the blistering sun, it must be said that the credentials of one nameless Birmingham Branch member whose initials were B.J. and whose first name describes what a cork does in water (no - not float) came under question when a group of English girls asked if he was a local. Perhaps future membership criteria of the party will have to come under more careful review. Black sections within the National Front?

Drinking, sunbathing - what else? Ah yes, lizard hunting, numerous meetings with 'Ralph' and 'Huey' and the study of some rather dubious reading material. All in all, a good time was had by all with a pledge made to return in 1988. Other members are encouraged to swell the ranks of the party repeating this trip which at the current rate of interest will require a specially commissioned charter plane.

Finally, may I close by recounting a conversation held at my place of work just prior to my departure.

"Where are you going for your holiday?"

"Ibiza."

"Balearics", came the reply .

"It's true", I retorted.

FRONT MOBOLISE TO CONFRONT IRA'S MOSTYN MARTYRS MARCH

CLITHEROE NF have organised a coach to take their members and supporters to oppose the IRA march through Moss Side, Manchester on Sunday November 22nd.

Local organiser, Andy Gower, has already half-filled the coach and with the help of Blackburn and Accrington NF it looks like the IRA will be facing one of the biggest counter-demonstrations to their march in recent years.

The growth of the NF in Lancashire has been one of the welcome developments for the NF during 1987 and it's hoped that units will continue to be formed in all main towns throughout the county.

THE IRA's Bloody Sunday March for 1988 will take place in Newcastle.

Every National Front unit must mobolise to confront these murderers.

LABOUR'S ELLAND RD. DEMO FAILS TO STOP LEEDS NF

EIGHTY LABOUR Party supporters tried to prevent members of Leeds National Front from selling FLAG and Vanguard at Elland Road, the home of Leeds Utd F.C., on Saturday 24th October.

The demonstration was prompted by the arrival of Raphael Meade to the Leeds team their first black player for three years.

Despite the demonstration, the NF papersale went ahead with the sellers receiving many encouraging comments from the Leeds fans.

WHERE SPONSORS TAKE OVER A SPORT!

SPONSORSHIP OF sport has been growing dramatically over the last few years and has brought millions of pounds to virtually every sport in Britain.

There is however a danger that the sponsors want to totally takeover the running of sport to suit their needs rather than the needs of the competitors and spectators.

In one particular sport this appears to be taking place now! An organisation called International Management Group - popularly known as 'Octopus' Inc has come to dominate major golf tournaments. It is now using this position to impose changes in the game for purely commercial reasons.

One example of this was that the Wentworth Golf Course was virtually forced to host the Suntory World Matchplay Championship in late October. It could not seek to host an earlier tournament because alternatives are also organised by I.M.G.

Consequently to keep the greens in condition for this late tournament the grass was being cut twice a day when normally it would have been allowed to grow so that it would be in good condition the following spring.

Similarly in football, sponsors are now beginning to determine the design of the team's strip - how much longer before they interfere in the size of the pitch, the rules of the game etc.?

Sponsorship certainly can be of benefit to a game but it is quite wrong for it to seek to influence such aspects of a sport - which is designed to be enjoyed by players and spectators - not to sell Japanese radios or American food!

■ John Emburey: Stoned

BLATANT BIAS FROM THE B.B.C.

'HIGH SPIRITS' is how Radio Two Sports Desk described Pakistani supporters who stoned England cricketer, John Emburey, during a World Cup match.

Yet Everton fans who chanted 'racial ditties' and threw bananas at Liverpool player, John Barnes, were denounced as thugs, hooligans and criminals.

The difference in being hit on the head by a stone or a banana is easy enough to imagine. Could the differing descriptions of the crowds be because one set of supporters were black and the other white?
